Learning and teaching is a responsibility shared by the professor and the students.

My responsibility as the teacher is to provide expert knowledge, a stimulating environment in which to learn, identify learning goals and explain how they will be accomplished, and timely feedback on your progress as you test your competencies.

Your responsibility as the learner is always to be prepared for class, successfully complete reading and writing assignments in a timely and thoughtful manner, and to learn, that is to create new pathways in your brain that allows you to recall lessons and apply to real life situations years into the future. Learning results from individual endeavor and engagement; it is entirely your responsibility.

Develop an appreciation for how film, an art form, may distort accuracy yet may (or may not) achieve authenticity when portraying the horrific events of the Holocaust?

- What does the Holocaust look like through Hollywood’s eyes?
- How do historical accounts compare to the content and mise-en-scène of film?

Guide students in the writing process

Advance a convincing response to the question: If the “Ethos of Hollywood is first of all the art of the middle, that is, it’s meant to appeal to everyone.” Can this be achieved when portraying the horrific events of the Holocaust?

Guide students in the writing process

Compose written work addressed to different audiences

Guide students in the writing process

Engage in pre-writing; Seek assistance from the professor and BU Writing Center in a timely manner

Critically read, select, and use evidence to formulate and support writing, including argument

Assign stimulating, relevant reading materials and films; Emphasize the message that all film making is intentional

Be an actual reader, not a mock reader; Actively engage in reading text and “reading film”

Access information using effective search strategies and appropriate sources

Provide a list of databases and video tutorials to conduct research

Practice locating film reviews and other relevant readings through BU Databases as instructed

Demonstrate responsible use of source material and its effective integration

Teach students to recognize the difference between authentic and inauthentic paraphrasing and proper citation methods in history

Paraphrase authentically; Conduct research and write with integrity; Attend sessions that provide additional instruction on proper use of sources

Normalize help-seeking behaviors and contact with professors in students

Require students to attend meetings and provide a welcoming environment when we meet

Schedule and attend meetings; take responsibility for their learning

Communication:

All course materials are found in BOLT https://bolt.bloomu.edu. All written communication is completed through your BU email address so you must access that account routinely. Any alterations to the course syllabus, meeting times, etc will be announced as a news item in BOLT and with a group email @huskies.bloomu.edu. Please ask questions if any instruction is ever unclear. I maintain a web site on learning and teaching history: http://facstaff.bloomu.edu/lstallba. You will find tutorials there that are useful about how to write history essays but may be of interest to you as well. In addition, I will have the most updated syllabus available there in case you are having difficulty accessing it through BOLT; however, reading materials can only be accessed through BOLT → Content.

Technology Requirements & Policies

- Make sure that you routinely update your browser (e.g. IE Explorer, Google Chrome, Mozzila, Safari) to the newest versions that support BOLT. If you have trouble accessing BOLT in one browser, try another.
- High-speed internet (no dial up). Be aware that wireless connections can be slower.
- You know how and are able to access all course materials from BOLT. Some course materials are Flash and not supported by some Apple products or Google Chrome.

Copyright 2014 Lisa M. Stallbaumer-Beishline as to this syllabus and all lectures. During this course students are prohibited from selling notes to or being paid for taking notes by any person or commercial firm without the express written permission of the professor teaching this course.
Use Microsoft Word to upload all written work to BOLT or to me (i.e. file extension is a .doc or .docx).

Cell Phone, Tablets, Laptops, etc. . . . Policy

Put your cell phone in silent mode upon beginning class and keep it in your pocket, purse or school bag or place face down on your desk. By the way, leaving class to answer a cell phone call or text a message is an equally inappropriate use of class time.

If you bring a laptop, please have a G-rated screen saver. If you have either a laptop or mobile device in class, you are not allowed to game, check or send emails, check facebook, etc. Of course, you are permitted to use them for class related activities.

Consequences? You will be asked to leave the class if you are found to be reading a text message, texting, listening to music, listening to a message, sending or checking email, gaming, etc. You will be asked not to bring your laptop to class or to leave if you are making inappropriate use of your laptop or mobile device.

Required Texts

Please note: You have no formal textbook, but I will be providing you with readings through BOLT Content and you are asked to purchase The Pianist. Always bring your assigned readings to class preferably in hardcopy. I recommend hard copies, not electronic copies. Studies show retention and engagement with reading improve with marked up hard copies. As you contribute to discussion, you are going to be asked to share page numbers, read passages, etc.

Legal Access to Films

- Some assignments require you to view movies outside of class. Many of these films are on reserve at Andruss Library. However, some that interest you may not be. Therefore, you must legally access movies through such services as Netflix, Amazon, RedBox, BlueBox, etc. Keep in mind that not all movies are available through video streaming.
- Viewer suggestion: video streaming on small laptops, smart phones, etc is becoming quite popular, yet you might want to consider how the device may affect your experience. Some films should just be seen on a big screen.

- Take the GLRT Final Quiz.
- You are allowed to retake the Final Quiz once.
- Take a screen shot of the quiz results page and save to provide evidence of having completed the quiz. (If the technology is reliable, the results should be sent to me.)
- Submit a paragraph describing at least three things that you have learned about Library Research from having studied the modules. You can also include the screen shots after the paragraph. (This is what I’ll be reading and grading.)
- Must be completed by 30 September.

Attendance

You are expected to attend class but you earn no points simply for being present.

If you have a documented medical excuse, military service, varsity sports (or other reasonable absence listed below in the attendance policy) that includes a legible name, date, and phone number whom can be contacted by me, you may make up missed discussions. It is your responsibility to contact me to find out what to do. This is a night class, if you miss more than one meeting, you may want to consider withdrawing from the course. If you have three or more absences, you will automatically fail the course.

Discussion and Participation Grade

(0-2 points for each discussion; total t.b.d.)

- You cannot be a passive learner in this class; you are expected to contribute to the discussions and any exercises that we complete in class.
- We will be discussing our interpretation of films and our understanding of assigned readings. Discussion allows students to think through the material with their classmates; the professor serves as a facilitator to keep students on track.
- Questions to guide your readings are found in the weekly calendar of assignments and readings.
- What is more, you will be asked to think through materials routinely with a number of Memos to Directors exercises which are required in advance of discussions.
- Always have the discussion material in front of you; be prepared to explain how you arrived at an interpretation or why you are raising questions by making reference to specific documents, page numbers, paragraphs.
- In order for everyone to benefit from discussion, everyone should participate. If you have a serious and legitimate problem with shyness, you should discuss this with me at the beginning of the semester.
- Stuff happens option: we all have bad days, fail to engage or get overwhelmed with work, and cannot prepare adequately. Your lowest discussion grade will be dropped at the end of the semester. If you miss a discussion, this will be the lowest grade dropped. So it is better to attend and be ill-prepared, than not to attend.
- How is discussion graded? Participation can take the form of responding to questions posed by the professor or your classmates; asking questions to clarify any confusion that you have about the content of the readings, the ideas they generate, and the films that we preview; offering your interpretation of questions and the assigned readings. Participation should be informed
  - 0 points if you are absent, sleeping in class, texting, using your laptop or tablet for non-class related things;
  - 1-1.25 points if you attend discussion but never speak; if what you say is totally irrelevant or clearly un-informed by having read the sources or pondered the films;
- 1.5 points if you make at least one relevant contribution;
- 1.75 points if you make at least two relevant contributions;
- 2 points if you make three or more relevant contributions.

Memos to Directors
(0-10 points each; total of 40 points)

General Guidelines

- Memos are intended to persuade and inform in a professional tone.
- Memos can be formulated in a number of ways. The guidelines here are adapted from a business memo model and made to work for the assignment requirements. (https://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/590/02/)

Heading Segment:
- TO: (reader’s names and job title)
- FROM: (your name and job title) Don’t use your real name.
- DATE:
- SUBJECT: (concise and specific statement about content)

Opening Segment
- Outlines the nature of the task or problem to be solved
- Explains what factors or criteria shaped your recommendations.
- Might be labeled with a subheading

Body
- Three paragraphs, each one dedicated to identifying and explaining three “scenes” and explains why the recommendations are being made.
- Might be labeled with subheadings
- Be sure to parenthetically cite page numbers if you quote directly, summarize, or paraphrase.

Quotations for the Screenwriter
- This could be incorporated into the body section discussing the three scenes or treated as a separate segment in the memo.
- Need to explain why the quotation should be incorporate into the film.
- If the quotation is long consider just providing a portion of it on the assumption the reader can look it up.
- Be sure to parenthetically cite page numbers.

Questions that Remain
- These could be questions that you have about the reading that you want clarified by me or in class.
- These could be questions or concerns that you have about the production of the film.

Summary Segment
- A brief statement of the key recommendations.

- Cite page numbers (in parenthesis) when authentically paraphrasing or summarizing and be sure to cite and quote verbatim passages.
- About 1-1 ½ single-spaced, 1-inch margins, Verdana, 10 point font; Calibri, 11 point font; Times New Roman, 10 point font.
- Standard written English.
Memos to Directors #1

- Based upon your reading of the memoir, The Pianist, complete this assignment.
- The director Roman Polanski has hired you as the historical consultant to turn Wladyslaw Szpilman’s memoir, The Pianist, into a film. Your recommendations must include the following:
  - Identify and explain three “scenes” within the memoir that you believe MUST be in the film and explain why (e.g. are they crucial to maintain accuracy and authenticity, emotionally critical to plot development, etc). (A “scene” might be a few pages, the description of an event, a theme that reoccurs, or a chapter from the memoir.)
  - On the assumption that Szpilman published his memoir, not only to share his experiences with readers, but also to convey messages about what he learned regarding humanity and human nature, identify and explain one lesson that should be a theme in the film. Be sure to explain why you are making the recommendation.
- Film historian, Annette Innsdorf, maintains, “Film gives the greatest illusion of truth. We assume there is a certain authenticity... yet there is always some degree of distortion.” Identify one “scene” from the memoir that you believe could be distorted without Polanski losing overall authenticity and explain why.
- To help the screenwriter with the script, identify and record two quotations from the memoir that are so memorable or significant that you believe they should be integrated into the script. Explain why.
- Raise one question that you have after reading the memoir.
- Should take the form of a memo persuasive, informative memo addressed to Roman Polanski.

Memos to Directors #2

- You have been hired as a historical consultant by the Disney Corporation, which is preparing to make a film about the heroic rescue of Danish Jews by their fellow countrymen. As the consultant, you need to provide essential information to the director so he can determine who the major characters will be and how he should portray the three major groups of people involved in the event.
- To complete your task, you read up on the rescue of Danish Jews as described by Leo Goldberger and Herbert Pundik. Subsequently, you provide the director with the following, keeping in mind that the film must be “family friendly”:
  - recommended list of characters (at least three, do not feel limited by this number) and briefly describe how they should portray the character (these characters can be actual people whom you read about or fictional characters whom you create inspired by what you read);
  - a paragraph that describes how they should portray the Danish Jews;
  - a paragraph that describes how they should portray the rescuers;
  - and a paragraph that describes how they should portray the German occupying authorities.
- Be sure to cite page numbers and author’s name in parentheses after you have written down your ideas so you can tell the director where your ideas are originating.
- Be sure to put forth a convincing case for your choices by providing details that allows the director to imagine, that is place himself into the shoes of the Jews, rescuers, and the Germans. Ken Cameron, the director, needs to know why you are making recommendations.
- Should take the form of a memo persuasive, informative memo addressed to the
Memos to Directors #3

Imagine that you have been hired as an intern by Joseph Sargent, director of Out of the Ashes, a movie about the true story of Gisella Perl, a Jewish inmate and doctor in Auschwitz. When Perl applied for citizenship in the US, she was investigated for collaborating with Nazi doctors in Auschwitz. In part because Perl performed abortions on Jewish inmates to prevent them from being selected for the gas chambers. Needless to say, the subject matter is filled with moral ambiguity intensified by the abortion debates in the United States. Your job is to help the screenwriter and director make choices about what scenes to include in the movie to help the audience understand Gisella Perl’s motivations. In preparation, you have read excerpts from Gisella Perl's memoir, I Was a Doctor in Auschwitz.

- Identify and explain three “scenes” or themes from Perl’s memoir that MUST be included in the film to achieve authenticity and accuracy. Explain why you are making these recommendations. (A “scene” might be an incident or event Perl described, a section or chapter of the memoir; a theme may be observations she makes about the humanity of inmates or the perpetrators.)
- To help the screenwriter with the script, identify and record two quotations from the memoir that are so memorable or significant that you believe they should be integrated into the script. Explain why.
- Raise one question that you have after reading the sources.
- Should take the form of a persuasive, informative memo addressed to Joseph Sargent professional in appearance.

Memos to Directors #4

- Tim Blake Nelson, director of The Grey Zone, was “inspired” by the memoir of Myklos Nyiszli entitled Auschwitz: A Doctor’s Eyewitness Account. In consulting the memoir excerpts, what three scenes that Nyiszli witnesses or describes would be essential to include if Nelson wants to remain true to the memoir and be sure that you explain why? (A “scene” might be a few pages, the description of an event, a theme that reoccurs, or a chapter from the memoir.)
- To help the screenwriter with the script, identify and record two quotations from the memoir that are so memorable or significant that you believe they should be integrated into the script. Explain why.
- Raise one question that you have after reading the memoir.
- Should take the form of a persuasive, informative memo addressed to Tim Blake Nelson.

Film Reviews

(0-20 points each; total of 60 points)

General Guidelines for all Film Reviews

- A review should do the following: entice, examine, elucidate, and evaluate given the intended audience’s expectations.
  - Entice: catch your reader’s attention so that s/he will want to read (found in the introductory paragraph).
  - Examine: provide sufficient information about the film and the director’s goals so the reader has a capsule summary (may be found in the introductory or first body paragraph).
  - Elucidate: the audience wants insight about historical accuracies and inaccuracies, so the body of your review should discuss with examples that compare the film and text (makes up the body paragraphs and restated briefly in the concluding paragraph).

- Evaluate: you are being asked to evaluate the film for historical accuracies and inaccuracies in order to recommend it, to recommend it with qualifications, not recommend it, or not recommend it with qualifications. Your opinion is being solicited, and your opinion should be informed by a careful analysis of the film and the memoir. Opinions will vary, what matters is how convincingly you have substantiated your recommendations (integrated into the body paragraphs as you examine and elucidate then restated briefly in the concluding paragraph).

- Professional in appearance and tone.
- Standard written English.
- A title that captures the essence of your review.
- Be creative, but not verbose.
- Avoid misrepresenting the film or the memoir.
- Cite page numbers (in parenthesis) when authentically paraphrasing or summarizing and be sure to cite and quote verbatim passages.
- About 3 pages, double-spaced, 1-inch margins, Verdana, 10 point font; Calibri, 11 point font; Times New Roman, 10 point font.

Film Review 1

The American Historical Association, the largest organization representing professional historians, has recruited you to write a review of Roman Polanski’s The Pianist. They want you, an expert who is knowledgeable about Szpilman’s experiences from his memoir, to evaluate the film’s historical accuracies and inaccuracies and arrive at a conclusion about whether you would recommend the film without qualifications, with qualifications, or not recommend it to readers who wants to learn more about events related to the Holocaust.

Film Review 2

The American Historical Association, the largest organization representing professional historians, has recruited you to write a review of Edward Zwick’s Defiance, which is based on the study by Nechama Tec. They want you, who has expert knowledge of Tec’s findings, to evaluate the film’s historical accuracies and inaccuracies and arrive at a conclusion about whether you would recommend the film without qualifications, with qualifications, or not recommend it to readers who wants to learn more about events related to the Holocaust.

Film Review 3

The American Historical Association, the largest organization representing professional historians, has recruited you to write a review of Steven Spielberg’s Schindler’s List. Spielberg was inspired by Thomas Keneally’s book. In this case, historians question the accuracy of Keneally’s research and Spielberg’s account. Most controversial, perhaps, is the creation of the list. Did Spielberg get it right? If not, should this undermine its historical value or even lead you to not recommend the film? Write a review contemplating this issue upon careful study of the written sources.

Dear PTO (0-50 points)

The Holocaust has been made into a number of “family friendly” movies for television or theatrical release (PG-13), i.e. the target audiences are children (tweens, teens) and their families. At what age is it appropriate to introduce youth to the Holocaust? A social studies teacher, Ms. Larson, in the Lake Wobegon school district is proposing that they sponsor a film series during Holocaust Remembrance Month. She hopes the film series will encourage students and families to contemplate lessons of the Holocaust revolving around racism, negative impact of indifference, abuse of power, and altruistic behavior. Questions are raised when Ms. Larson discusses the film series with school administrators, parents, and students.

- Are there limits to themes, images, and content to which young people should be exposed? If so what are those limits?
- By imposing limits to make a film “family friendly,” do filmmakers risk trivializing or misrepresenting Holocaust experiences?
- Is this risk worth taking given Ms. Larson’s goals?
- Do the films offer an opportunity to fulfill Ms. Larson’s goals?

Before the Parent Teachers Organization (PTO) of Lake Wobegon School District agrees to fund the film series (advertising, film rental, refreshments), they need more information about films that might be included in the series before they will make a commitment. As a fellow teacher and friend to Ms. Larson, you offer to help her by reviewing three films and making recommendations. As an educator, your review and recommendations should take into consideration what is developmentally appropriate for students in grades 5-12, what is pedagogically sound, and address the concerns expressed above. Locate film reviews and news stories about the production of the films to make a more informed recommendation. Here is a quick link to our course Research Guide that will lead you news stories and reviews: http://guides.library.bloomu.edu/HollywoodHolocaust?hs=a&gid=7323. You can provide your recommendations in the form of a memo or a review essay. Your choice, but be sure to cite your sources.

In addition to Miracle at Midnight, you will review a film from group 1 (stories based on fictional accounts); and from group 2 (based on true stories). All films are on reserve in the library and can be viewed there. (In class we will either randomly select or students will be allowed to make choices based upon interest.)

In Class Final Exam

(0-30 points; distribution of points, t.b.d.)

There may be an "objective" portion to test your recall of content in lectures and film terms, and to test your recall of major historical events referenced in the readings and movies.

You will be asked to respond in essay format to the following two essays:

- If the "Ethos of Hollywood is first of all the art of the middle, that is, it’s meant to appeal to everyone." Can this be achieved when portraying the horrific events of the Holocaust?
- What does the Holocaust look like through Hollywood’s eyes?
Grading Scale
Grades are earned and not based on "effort"; the letter grade communicates a level of competency: excellent (A range); above average (B range); average (C range); below average (D range); and unacceptable (F range). Total points are determined at the end of the semester (the points will add up to 186 + approximately 20 for discussion/participation). A letter grade will be based on the percentage of total points earned. There is no extra credit in this course, but you will have opportunities to earn bonus points.

Policies

Integrity, simply defined, is doing what is right even when no one is looking.
Do not make a mockery of individual achievement.
Take pride in your work and respect others' work.

Academic Integrity
Bloomsburg University Policy and Procedures 3512

"Academic integrity refers to the adherence to agreed upon moral and ethical principles when engaging in academic or scholarly pursuits. The university's academic integrity is part of an effort to nurture a community where trust, honesty and personal integrity guide all of our dealings with one another. Personal integrity is vital to our pursuit of educating and becoming educated. This student academic integrity policy is only part of, not the entirety of, efforts to foster a community of trust; trust is built first on our actions toward each other. The responsibility to be honest, fair, and forthright with others is a responsibility that each member of the Bloomsburg University community must accept. . . .

"The following types of behaviors are examples of academic dishonesty. This list is not, and cannot be exhaustive. Students who are unsure if an act is academically dishonest have a duty to consult their professor before engaging in the act."

Academic dishonesty includes: cheating, plagiarism, fabrication, misrepresenting circumstances, impersonation, obtaining an unfair advantage, aiding and abetting of academic dishonesty, falsification of records and official documents, and unauthorized access to computerized academic or administrative records or systems. For detailed definitions of these examples of academic dishonest, consult Bloomsburg University's Academic Integrity Policy (PRP 3512) at http://www.bloomu.edu/policies_procedures/3512

The most common violations of academic integrity in this course will revolve around inauthentic paraphrasing, failing to cite summarized or quoted sources, misrepresenting an absence, submitting written work based on false claims that you have read the material.
Dr. Stallbaumer’s Attendance and Assignment Deadlines' Policies

- Regular classroom attendance is expected. If you have three or more absences, you will automatically fail the course.
- Here is a link to the university’s attendance policy: http://www.bloomu.edu/policies_procedures/3506
- An absence is excused if you have a varsity sports event, religious holy days, military and military reserve activity, illness that is documented by the health center or a doctor, and funerals. You must provide documentation that allows me to verify that your excuse is legitimate.
- There is no makeup for unexcused absences; examples include court dates, sleeping in, studying for other classes, leaving campus early or arriving late because of ride-sharing, family vacations, even tending to a sick relative, etc. By the way, falsely representing why you are absent is a violation of academic integrity.
- It is the student’s responsibility to contact the professor to make up work promptly. Do not wait until the next class meeting.

Deadlines for written work. You are required to turn in your assignments on time. Unless you have an excused absence as defined in the policies above. Late work will only be accepted within 24 hours of the deadline; you must still provide a hard copy in addition to submitting to the BOLT Dropbox. You will only receive half credit of the grade that you would have earned for any late work.

- The BOLT Dropbox is set up to close 24 hours after the deadline passes. Even 1 second past the deadline is late to be sure to allow sufficient time to upload to the dropbox and check your email for a receipt.

Stuff Happens Option: Recognizing that stuff happens that could interfere with submitting a written assignment on time, you are allowed to use the “stuff happens” excuse once. This provides you with an additional 72 hours beyond the assignment deadline to complete your assignment. To use your “stuff happens option,” you need to contact me so that I can provide you with special access to BOLT dropbox, and you must still submit a hardcopy of your work within the deadline.

- You should always keep an electronic “mail trail” that indicates you have submitted your assignments to the BOLT Dropbox.
- You should always have backup copies of your files and print "hard copies" so you do not lose your work. Do not bring thumb-drives, disks, etc to my office and expect me to print your essays.

Disruptive Student Behavior Policy http://www.bloomu.edu/policies_procedures/3881 is intended to create a learning environment in which all individuals show respect for one another even if they do not see eye-to-eye. This policy represents the bare minimum of expectations. Please explore it to understand your rights and responsibilities.

Need help with study skills and writing?

The Bloomsburg University Writing Center (BUWC) offers free support for graduate and undergraduate writers at any point in the writing process. They will not write any part of your paper, but they can help you get started and then keep going; they can read what you have written and ask questions to help you think about what your readers might need; they can work with you on grammar, mechanics, or format; and they can help you develop strategies for proofreading and editing. BUWC consultants are available to conduct sessions online. Commuting students or any student who wants to work with a consultant but cannot get to one of our locations will be able to reach us online through a link we will provide. Students will be able to see and speak with consultants and share their documents, usually without having to download any new software. We will be offering workshops and individual tutorials for students who are interested in working with us online but are unfamiliar with Wimba. BUWC opens for Fall 2014 on the first day of the semester. Hours are Mon.—Thurs. from 10:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. and Fridays from 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. in Bakeless 206. There are also night hours on Sunday through Thursday from 7:00 p.m. -11:00 p.m. in Andruss Library. You can drop in or request an appointment through email: buwc@bloomu.edu. Visit their website (bloomu.edu/writingcenter) for more information.

University Tutorial Services: If you feel you need extra help to improve your academic performance in this or any of your courses, please consider requesting a tutor in University Tutorial Services (UTS). UTS offers peer tutoring at no charge to Bloomsburg University students. The UTS office is located in Warren Student Services Center, Room 13.

Weekly Calendar of Assignments and Readings

Because we meet only once a week, I have indicated what we will be doing within the class meetings, and what you should do in between the class meetings. If classes are canceled because of road conditions, bad weather, etc., I will use BOLT and your school email accounts to announce any changes that must be made to the syllabus. If in doubt, please do not hesitate to contact me.

This syllabus is subject to change. Please note that t.b.a. appears for some class meetings. This creates some flexibility. When the goals for those classes are determined, they will be announced in BOLT news and sent to your huskies.bloomu.edu address.

Except for The Pianist, all reading materials for this class are in BOLT→Content

Film Preview & Discussion: *The Grey Zone

- How does Tim Blake Nelson’s portrayal of Sonderkommando 12 compare to Miklos Nysizli’s memoir account?
- Is it possible to portray or explore the murderous, inhumane events of Auschwitz and be commercially successful?

In class Final Exam Cumulative

There may be an “objective” portion to test your recall of content in lectures and film terms, and to test your recall of major historical events referenced in the readings and movies. Drawing upon everything that you have learned, you will be asked to respond in essay format to the following two questions:

- If the “Ethos of Hollywood is first of all the art of the middle, that is, it’s meant to appeal to everyone.” Can this be achieved when portraying the horrific events of the Holocaust?
- What does the Holocaust look like through Hollywood’s eyes?
